NATIONALITY: Swedish

I am a global learner. Close enough is satisfactory to me, which may unnerve more precise thinking types, especially with such things as piano practice. Amazingly, I am adept at exacting disciplines such as mathematics.

My level of emotional reactivity is typical of the general population. Stressful and frustrating situations are somewhat upsetting to me, but I am generally able to get over these feelings and cope with these situations.

I sometimes believe that I have extra sensory ability and that unrelated events relate to each other in some important way. I sometimes have difficulty concentrating for long periods of time.

I am neither a subdued loner nor a jovial chatterbox. I enjoy time with others but also time alone. I am not prone to positive emotions and high spirits such as happiness, enthusiasm, optimism, and joy. I have good access to and awareness of my own feelings.

I believe that a certain amount of deception in social relationships is necessary. People find it relatively easy to relate to the straightforward way I have. I am not unprincipled or immoral; I am simply more guarded and less willing to openly reveal the whole truth.

I don't usually avoid close relationships with others. I don't search for hidden meanings in everything and I don't read hostile intentions into the actions of others. I don't challenge the loyalties of friends and loved ones and I don't appear cold and distant to others. I do not suffer from the mistaken impression that everyone is watching and judging me.

I feel some concern with others needs, but I am unwilling to sacrifice myself for others. I do not particularly like helping those in need. Requests for help feel like an imposition rather than an opportunity for self-fulfilment.
