

NAME: Alessandra Di Pisa
DATE OF BIRTH: 7 January 1977
NATIONALITY: Swedish

I am quite confident in myself and my abilities. I think of myself as quite worthy and useful human being and I think that I am quite well liked by other people. I am pretty happy with myself. I am pretty casual and easy-going, I don't particularly need order, routine or ritual.

I enjoy freedom and independence, I want to make my own decisions, and I view myself as the master of my own fate and I take realistic actions to solve my problems. I am not inclined to punish myself and I seldom regret my past behaviour. But I can be troubled by my conscience if my behaviour is morally reprehensible.

I don't have problems with self-doubt and suspicion. I am placid, serene and resistant to irrational fears and anxieties, and I don't worry unnecessary about things that may or may not have happened. But when things go wrong, I get upset.

I have an even temperament and a warm outlook on life. Neither overly excited nor unusually down, I'm just going with the flow. I am nor an optimist or a pessimist. I am neither satisfied with my existence nor disappointed with it. I am neither at peace with the world nor at odds with it. I might find life rewarding, but I can also feel depressed.

I value security and stability over adventure and excitement. Pragmatic and particular, my life is always kept in control and running smoothly. I am not careless with money and I don't take action without thinking about consequences. I am not aggressive and I am not more concerned with my own needs than the needs of others.
