

NAME: Alessandra Di Pisa
DATE OF BIRTH: 7 January 1977
NATIONALITY: Swedish

My integrity shines through. I'm loyal and trustworthy. I am relaxed and have a laid-back attitude and posture. I am friendly, accepting, patient, at ease, and generally content. I am at peace with myself and others. I show a general sense of harmony with people, events, and life circumstances. I am trusting. I focus on the positive aspects of things, people and events. I'm self-encouraging, have inner motivation, am stable and have a pleasant mood. I am interested in others. I have an accepting attitude about trivial mistakes and a problem-solving attitude about major mistakes. I am flexible and a good team member. I am able to lead and be led.

My attitude towards life is more of the "smell the roses" kind and I know how and when to relax. Nonetheless, I realise that picking up a challenge and competing a little bit for my place in the sun can add some spice to my life. Generally, I am easy to be around, and people tend to feel relaxed and comfortable in my presence. The equilibrium is important, so I don't let my hostile, aggressive, and competitive alter ego take over too often. I have a very healthy attitude towards life.

I am a model roommate. I understand and appreciate the motto "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you". I respect and communicate with my roommates and when difficulties arise (and they always do) I am willing and able to compromise. By taking on the role of a good roommate I am getting the most out of the relationship. This does not mean I never have roommate conflicts or disputes, but I deal with them in a healthy manner.

Okay, I admit it, sometimes I'd rather avoid face-to-face conflicts. Being up front about any concerns as soon as I have them, rather than letting them build up and turn into, say, a tire-slashing incident, is a good thing. And it sure beats getting a reputation as someone with a taste for revenge. Sure, I wouldn't make a very good bouncer, but that's okay. I take comfort from the fact that, overall, people think I'm just swell.

In my relationship, the control scale is slightly tipped in his favour. My needs may still show up on the map, but they don't carry quite the same weight as his. This is cool because I like a guy to take charge. But, I make sure that this relationship does not turn into a one-man show. I've chosen this imbalance of power, so I'm comfortable with the relationship, and that's all that matters. But if I don't have a say, then there's a lack of respect, which could be a problem.

I'm not having problems with my sex-life; I don't find it difficult to control my impulses, or to act them out; I'm not easily disturbed or upset by my own thoughts and actions; I don't worry about sexual matters.